Re: Marica Tipton
Chapter 13
Case No. 16-32374-BEH

Dear Judge Hanan:

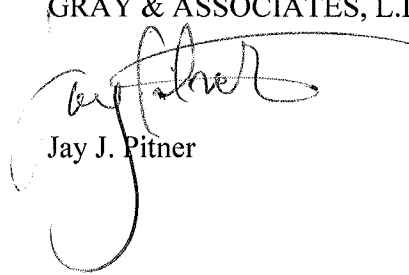

On November 7, 2017, a hearing was held on the motion of our client, Wells Fargo Bank, for relief from the automatic stay and abandonment. While the parties generally agreed upon the settlement of the motion, some question existed regarding the precise amount of the post-petition arrearage which would be subject to a supplemental claim. The court ended the hearing by asking that I verify the accuracy of the arrearage amount before drafting the order for the court's review and approval.

During my subsequent review of the file, I was able to verify the recent receipt of funds from the debtor. I also noted that prior to the hearing, the parties had agreed that a "doomsday" arrangement would be in effect for monthly payments beginning in December 2017. At the hearing on November 7, 2017, the court directed that the doomsday begin effective with the November 2017 payment. I have drafted the proposed order using the December 2017 payment for the commencement of the doomsday period and hope that the court will not have an issue with this revision. It does comport with the agreement reached with the debtor's attorney.

If you have no objection to the revision and receive no objection from the other parties, I would ask that the proposed order be signed and entered in the usual fashion.

Sincerely,

GRAY & ASSOCIATES, L.L.P.
